

Contributor License Agreement

We are incredibly thankful for the contributions we receive from the community. We require our external contributors to sign a Contributor License Agreement ("CLA") in order to ensure that our projects remain licensed under Free and Open Source licenses such as while allowing AppLand to build a sustainable business.

AppLand is committed to having a true Free and Open Source Software ("FOSS") license for our non-commercial software. A CLA enables AppLand to safely commercialize our products while keeping a standard FOSS license with all the rights that license grants to users: the ability to use the project in their own projects or businesses, to republish modified source, or to completely fork the project.

This page gives a human-friendly summary of our CLA, details on why we require a CLA, how contributors can sign our CLA, and more. The full CLA is set forth below.

Summary

This is a summary of (and not a substitute for) the full CLA below. This highlights only some of the key terms of the CLA. It has no legal value and you should carefully review all the terms of the actual CLA before agreeing.

- Grant of copyright license. You give AppLand permission to use your copyrighted work in commercial products.
- Grant of patent license. If your contributed work uses a patent, you give AppLand a license to use that patent including within commercial products. You also agree that you have permission to grant this license.
- No Warranty or Support Obligations. By making a contribution, you are not obligating yourself to provide support for the contribution, and you are not taking on any warranty obligations or providing any assurances about how it will perform.

The CLA does not change the terms of the standard open source license used by our software such as MIT. You are still free to use our projects within your own projects or businesses, republish modified source, and more. Please reference the appropriate license for the project you're contributing to learn more.

Why Require a CLA?

Agreeing to a CLA explicitly states that you are entitled to provide a contribution, that you cannot withdraw permission to use your contribution at a later date, and that AppLand has permission to use your contribution in our commercial products.

This removes any ambiguities or uncertainties caused by not having a CLA and allows users and customers to confidently adopt our projects. At the same time, the CLA ensures that all contributions to our open source projects are licensed under the project's respective open source license, such as MIT.

Requiring a CLA is a common and well-accepted practice in open source. Major open source projects require CLAs such as Apache Software Foundation projects, Facebook projects (such as React), Google projects (including Go), Python, Django, and more. Each of these projects remains licensed under permissive OSS licenses such as MIT, Apache, BSD, and more.

Signing the CLA

Open a pull request ("PR") to any of our open source projects to sign the CLA. A human will comment on the PR asking you to sign the CLA if you haven't already.

Follow the steps given by the human to electronically sign the CLA. This will require you to log in to Hellosign (we only request public information from your account) and to fill in a few additional details such as your name and email address. We will only use this information for CLA tracking; none of your submitted information will be used for marketing purposes.

You only have to sign the CLA once. Once you've signed the CLA, future contributions to any Appland project will not require you to sign again.

Legal Terms and Agreement

In order to clarify the intellectual property license granted with Contributions from any person or entity, Appland, Inc. ("Appland") must have a Contributor License Agreement ("CLA") on file that has been signed by each Contributor, indicating agreement to the license terms below. This license does not change your rights to use your own Contributions for any other purpose.

You accept and agree to the following terms and conditions for Your present and future Contributions submitted to Appland. Except for the license granted herein to Appland and recipients of software distributed by Appland, You reserve all right, title, and interest in and to Your Contributions.

1. Definitions. "You" (or "Your") shall mean the copyright owner or legal entity authorized by the copyright owner that is making this Agreement with Appland. For legal entities, the entity making a Contribution and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity are considered to be a single Contributor. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"Contribution" shall mean any original work of authorship, including any modifications or additions to an existing work, that is or previously has been intentionally submitted by You to Appland for inclusion in, or documentation of, any of the products owned or managed by Appland (the "Work"). For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to Appland or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, Appland for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by You as "Not a Contribution."

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, You hereby grant to Appland and to recipients of software distributed by Appland a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare derivative works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute Your Contributions and such derivative works.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, You hereby grant to Appland and to recipients of software distributed by Appland a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by You that are necessarily infringed by Your Contribution(s) alone or by combination of Your Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If any entity institutes patent litigation against You or any other entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that your Contribution, or the Work to which you have contributed, constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to that entity under this Agreement for that Contribution or Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.
4. You represent that you are legally entitled to grant the above license. If your employer(s) has rights to intellectual property that you create that includes your Contributions, you represent that you have received permission to make Contributions on behalf of that employer, that you will have received permission from your current and future employers for all future Contributions, that your applicable employer has waived such rights for all of your current and future Contributions to Appland, or that your employer has executed a separate Corporate CLA with Appland.
5. You represent that each of Your Contributions is Your original creation (see section 7 for submissions on behalf of others). You represent that Your Contribution submissions include complete details of any third-party license or other restriction (including, but not limited to, related patents and trademarks) of which you are personally aware and which are associated with any part of Your Contributions.
6. You are not expected to provide support for Your Contributions, except to the extent You desire to provide support. You may provide support for free, for a fee, or not at all. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, You provide Your Contributions on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON- INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS

FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. FURTHER, YOU UNDERSTAND AND AGREE THAT APPLAND HAS AND WILL NOT HAVE ANY LIABILITY UNDER OR IN RELATION TO THIS CLA AND THAT WE DISCLAIM AND ARE NOT LIABLE FOR ANY DIRECT, INDIRECT, SPECIAL, EXEMPLARY, INCIDENTAL OR EXEMPLARY DAMAGES OF ANY KIND, REGARDLESS OF THE CAUSE OR BASIS OF THE CLAIM.

7. Should You wish to submit work that is not Your original creation, You may submit it to Appland separately from any Contribution, identifying the complete details of its source and of any license or other restriction (including, but not limited to, related patents, trademarks, and license agreements) of which you are personally aware, and conspicuously marking the work as "Submitted on behalf of a third-party: [named here]".
8. You agree to notify Appland of any facts or circumstances of which you become aware that would make these representations inaccurate in any respect.
9. This CLA and any dispute under this agreement will be governed by the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and will be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal and state courts located in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.